

Risk Disclosure Statement

You should note that there are significant risks inherent in investing in certain financial instruments and in certain markets. Investment in derivatives, for example, may expose you to risks which are different to those investors might expect when they invest in equities. Similarly, investment in shares issued by issuers in emerging markets (by which we mean those that have an underdeveloped infrastructure or which are less economically or politically stable as markets in developed countries) involves risks not typically associated with equities investment in well developed markets. Investment in any of the foregoing kinds of financial instruments is generally appropriate for sophisticated investors who understand and are able to bear the risks involved. Among such risks, is the risk of losing the entire value of an investment or (in the case of certain derivative and other transactions) the risk of being exposed to liability over and above the initial investment. We set out below some specific risks and considerations for investors in relation to financial instruments of the type referred to above. This information is not intended to constitute a comprehensive statement of all the risks to which investors might be exposed and there may be others that exist now or which may arise in the future.

Liability

Equity Sense LLC and all of its officers and employees are not investment advisors or securities brokers. All information provided herein is made to subscribers, investors and speculators in general is strictly for informational and educational purposes without regard to their individual investment goals, financial circumstances, investment knowledge and abilities or personal attitudes toward investing or trading. Investors can and do lose money from investments. Trading securities involve substantial risk and are not suitable for all investors.

By subscribing to our services, you are agreeing to these Terms of Service and release Equity Sense LLC and all of its officers and employees from any liability and hold them completely harmless from any and all losses that may occur for any reason or cause including negligence on the part of Equity Sense LLC and its officers and employees as a result of reading this website or newsletter, using or relying on any information contained herein, or in any communications including but not limited to web meetings, phone calls, emails, web site information or internet posts.

EquitySense.com and EquitySense.weebly.com are owned and managed by Equity Sense LLC. By subscribing to Equity Sense LLC's services, you agree to use the information contained within any of our offerings for educational purposes only.

We encourage you to get personal advice from your professional investment advisor and/or to make independent investigations before acting on information that you read on EquitySense.com and its product offerings, as it is intended for information and educational purposes only. Our opinions, thought and ideas are derived from public sources and other sources we believe are reliable, without our independent verification. We cannot assure you that any information on EquitySense.com and EquitySense.Weebly.Com is accurate or complete. We do not in any way warrant or guarantee the success of any action which you take in reliance on our statements.

Unforeseen Circumstances

Equity Sense LLC and all of its officers and employees are only human and can be affected by tragic events leading to fatal or life-threatening outcomes. In the unlikely event that Equity Sense LLC and all of its officers meet their untimely death, your lifetime subscription is forfeit as the company would also cease to operate.

Sale of the Company

Equity Sense LLC may be purchased by a third party in the future. In that case your services may be provided by the purchasing entity.

Company Closure

As of the year 2017, Equity Sense LLC has no debts and monies payable to any creditor. It is very unlikely the company closes due to insolvency. It is more likely the company will close if its purpose no longer exists. You must accept this as a possibility should market conditions change in the future.

Terms of Service

Your fee entitles you to access to premium content designed to enhance your awareness and knowledge regarding financial instruments, for informational and educational purposes only. Any subscription whether monthly, yearly or any special promotions is non-refundable and non-transferrable. Payment of any classes is non-refundable and non-transferrable.

You are not providing any compensation to Equity Sense LLC and its officers and employees in exchange for investment advice. Officers and employees at Equity Sense LLC are not registered investment advisers with any regulatory authority. No content or information from this site or any of our product offerings shall be construed as investment advice.

Equity Sense LLC as a company, makes no assurances that the information we provide to subscribers has not been in the past nor will not be at any time in the future, disseminated to non-paying subscribers either on EquitySense.com or in personal or other public communications.

Any undue verbal and written abuse to Equity Sense staff will not be tolerated and will result in your immediate expulsion from the service. Furthermore, your subscription and any amounts paid will be forfeit due to such abuse. It is your responsibility to conduct yourself professionally and to afford respect to Equity Sense staff at any time during your subscription with us. Records of such infractions will be kept for possible use in legal situations should it be warranted.

Any online purchase including but not limited to classes and special deals are non-refundable and non-transferable. It is the buyer's responsibility to acknowledge this before purchasing.

Acceptance

I have read the above Risk Disclosure and Terms of Service fully and agree to the terms set herein.

Date:

Written Name:

Signature: